Finding an Internship

A student must secure an internship before registering for course credit. Internship possibilities include working in any of the following types of organizations:

- Private
- Non-profit
- Government
- Out of Utah
- International

There is no one "right way" to find an internship. You may consider utilizing one or more of the following resources to help you secure your internship:

Internship postings available through the Career Center

The Career Center receives internship postings each day. These are posted on Employment Wizard which you can access at any time from the career center website.

Assistance from members of the Career Center staff

Our staff can offer individual assistance to students to identify potential internship opportunities and leads.

Your current job

You may complete an internship at your current place of employment, but you must be given new responsibilities or duties which translate to professional, meaningful work in your field of study.

Contacts from work and school, including your professors

People you know from school or work can be a good source of ideas and leads in finding an internship, especially if they have associations with people outside your own circle of contacts.

Newspaper and internet resources

Check these sources for internship opportunities related to your field.

Friends, relatives, new connections

Networking is an excellent means of tapping into internships. Do not neglect asking your personal acquaintances and Westminster contacts about who they know, in your field of interest, with a connection that might lead to an internship opportunity. Sign up for and use LinkedIn.
