

Winter at Westminster November '08 Newsletter

The Vibe

Winter came early this year and the resorts are all opening before their scheduled dates! Snowbird started the trend last Friday, November 7th, recording more skiers and riders that day than the entire month of November last year. Little Cottonwood Canyon has seen five feet of snow already. Come out here and make some fresh tracks. Take a tour of the college and ski or ride for free. We'll even show you the secret stashes!

Apply Now!

There are still spots available for the W@W '09 semester. Don't be left out in the cold! Apply online at www.winteratwestminster.com or call Erin Kennelly at 800.748.4753.

W@W On-line Video Contest

This year we are launching our third annual W@W Online Video Contest in partnership with Dynastar and Spy Hop Productions. Students will have five weeks to film, produce, and choreograph their best video, which will then be judged by Dynastar, Spy Hop, and Westminster College. Top prizes will be Dynastar skis, Rossignol snowboards, and swag bags for all! Check out last year's videos on YouTube under Winter at Westminster 2008.

Internships

There has never been a better way to get your foot in the door than participating in an internship. Many W@W students have participated in internships while visiting Westminster College. Many alumni are now working full time in the outdoor industry through networking in the W@W program. There are still some fantastic internships in the outdoor industry available next semester! View job descriptions online at www.winteratwestminster.com under "internship information."

Activities & Academics

Waking up in the morning is hard, but when your alarm blasts the snow report, telling you it dumped snow all night long, and there is over two feet of fresh powder to ride, you'll jump out of bed. And there's no guilt, because your classes are in the afternoon, and of course you've already done your homework!

This is a typical schedule for a W@W student. Your class schedule revolves around your powder schedule. In addition, there are no classes on Friday, since you'll be with the entire W@W group of snow junkies, heading to the mountains to experience yet another unbelievable activity. You really can get a stellar GPA and still hit the slopes 60+ days. We know that when you work hard, you need to play even harder!

Backcountry.com Gear Discount!

You know you need more gear...we all do! So, as you dig out your old gear and start whining about how your board isn't fat enough for Utah's deep powder, go to www.winteratwestminster.com and visit our packing list. We have the gear you need for this winter, and all Winter at Westminster students get a 15% discount at Backcountry.com.
